

Umberto Starter Voucher

Redemption option: Creation of an initial material flow model, incl. calculations

Overview of the scope of consulting services offered; terms and conditions:

- Initial phone consultation with one of our experts for up to one hour to discuss the question to be addressed and to create an initial outline of the system under review. In the process, we will make sure that the complexity of the question is appropriate for the given time frame
- On-site visit by one of our experts to gather the necessary data. The client will be responsible for the consultant's travel costs (transportation + hotel)
- On site: tour of the company/production facility to gain an overview of the processes, define system boundaries, create a first draft of the material flow model, and to consult and agree on modeling and data
- Compilation of an initial material flow model using the Umberto software
- Calculation of first results according to the client's goals: LCA results, carbon footprint results, resource efficiency analysis results or material loss analysis (MCFA) results.
- Handover of the generated material flow model to the client for further use, including minor adjustments of the model, if desired.
- The project must be completed during 2018
- As part of this special offer, this option is only available to 5 clients on a first come, first serve basis
